A few days since, a desperate convict, by the name of Bennett, after having been put through the bucking process—a mode of punishment recently introduced—made fight upon the principal keeper and other officers, and was only subduest after a severe contest. During the affray, in which Bennett was considerably injured, he ran into the cabinet-shop, crying, "They are killing me," and called upon the convicts in that shop for help. At first, some of them started to assist Bennett, but were repulsed by Mr. Guillick, the principal keeper, who, with his revolver in his hand, ordered every one of them back to their work, and the disturbance was queiled without injury.

SHOCKING RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Peter Royal, a school teacher residing near Ryc, N. Y., was instantly killed by the 8 a. m. Boston express train of Friday striking him while he was crossing the track to take the down train. He was torn in a frightful manner, at least twenty pieces of his hody being picked up in various places, the flesh still quivering with life. The deceased was an Englishman, and had been recently engaged on a Life of Cobber, the English statesman.

WOMAN AS A FARMER —We learn from a Southern paper that the most extensive plantation in Louisiana is managed by a woman—Mrs. A. E. Fint. During the last year she raised 1,800 hogsheads of molasses and 400 bales of ectton—the largest crop produced on any plantation in that State.

ITALIAN MOVEMENT IN NEW-YORK.

We are glad to be informed that the Italian residents of this city, taking a deep interest in the com-ing struggle for the independence of their native country, are ready to unite and give both moral support and pecuniary aid to the national movement of which Sardinia has gallantly taken the lead. A preliminary meeting, we are informed, was held last Friday night at Mr. Gajani's house in Eleventh street, and, individuals from all the different States of Italy being present, it was resolved to take the initiative of a subscription to favor of the families of the soldiers called to fight for Italian independence. A list was opened, and considerable sums were im mediately contributed.

This is but the beginning of a movement in which the Committee of Initiative means to invite all the Italian residents of New-York to participate, without distinction of political opinions. Several prominent American citizens will also be invited to cooperate with the Italian patriots. This movement will find sympathy. It is only by a compact union that the Italians will be able to achieve any important and permanent improvement in the wretched condition of their country. Whatever may be the intention of the French Emperor in aiding Sardicia, if the Italians should really give up all petty quarrels of party, and firmly unite in the great object of acquiring their independence, it is evident that 26,000,000 of people could not be easily disposed of, without their consent, either by friend or foe.

The Committee of Initiative named at this meeting is composed for the present of:

Mr. Maretzek has aband-ned his intended season at the Metropolitan, and joined forces with Strakosch at the Academy who will soon produce Madame Cortesi and Madame Colsoc. Mr. Strakosch has engaged the Academy for the month of June.

Niblo's Garden.—The romantic drama of "Rob

Roy," so beautifully acted at this house, has proved so attractive that it is to be continued till further notice. Although we have already noticed in detail the merits of this revival, we are constrained to once again observe that seidom has the piece been so admirably ne in all respects as at this house. Especially wel do the Rob Roy, the Bailie, and the " Dougal crea ture," hold their own, and, indeed, win new favor every night.

It may not be out of place to mention here that the leader of the orchestra, Mr. Wyette, though young and of comparatively small experience, seems to com prehend that seldom-gratified desire of the public for what is called "popular" music; he appears to be willing to gratify and satisfy his audiences by the performance of familiar strains rather than perpetually to weary them by unwelcome and unintelligible musical abstrusities, after the fashion of too many orchestral directors. We consider Mr. Wyette a musical dispensation to be exceedingly grateful for. On Saturday afternoon Miss Laura Honey made her first appearance at this house in " Cherry and Pair Star," and the Extravaganza of " Lola Montez." Metropolitan Theater .- On Saturday night Miss J. M. Davenport took her farewell benefit, and re

MORMON EMIGRATION. - On Saturday evening about 500 of the Mormon emigrants that arrived in the city | falling down spairs. on Friday, from Europe, left for the West by the Al-bany steamer Isaac Newton. The Mormon agents stationed here, having received positive instructions from President Brigham Young to send all emigrants in future early in the season, in order to avoid the sad calamities of being caught in early Winter on the Plains, as in 1856, used every dispatch, and in 30 hours from landing in Castle Garden had them again in motion up the Hudson. In emigration business the Mormon chief conceives his plans, makes all contracts, sets the whole machinery in motion, and superintends everything and everybody. Without employees to assist he cales in action the willing hands of the emigrants themselves, and teaches them that hey are the most interested in what has to be done, and holds forth the virtue of useful labor. Carrying out matters in this style, the 500 did all their luggage business at Castle Garden, got to the depot of the Michigan Central Railroad with all their children and baggage, and were ready at the appointed hour to bid good by to New-York. The company had a very large amount of baggage. In addition to their usual free baggage with each ticket, they had nearly 6,600 pounds extra; altogether they had upward of 59,000

RATHER Too FAST. -Mr. Frank Rivers, proprietor of the Melodeon, Chinese Assembly Rooms, employed Edward Fairmain, a young man about 21 years of age, as treasurer of that establishment, at the liberal salary of $8 per week Latterly, young Fairmain is said to have set himself up for one of the bloods of the town, with a fast horse, a fast woman, and other fastnesses to correspond. Mr. Rivers wondered how his subordinate could manage to make such a display upon so slender a purse, and posted himself up by a personal inspection of his accounts. The result was, that Mr. Fairmain was found to be a defaulter to the amount of $514 66, between April 25 and May 14. An officer was called in, and Mr. F. found himself yesterday in the presence of Justice Steers, who committed him for trial on the charge of embezzlement.

TRAGIC AFFAIR. -An inquest was held by Coroner Jackman, on Saturday, at No. 114 Ridge street, upon the body of Mrs. Bauerfreund, who was burned to death under the following circumstances: One of her children baving died, in accordance with the custom of her country, she and her husband laid the little body upon straw on the floor, and lighted the lamp of mourning at the head. While they were performing these last and offices for the dead, some one in the vard cried out that a child had fallen into the cellar. Supposing that it was their other child, who had been playing in the yard, Mr. and Mrs. Bauerfreund ran to the window and looked out, when Mrs. B.'s dress came in contact with the lamp, and before she was aware of the fact, she was enveloped in flames. Her husband ran to her assistance, and did what he could to extinguish the flames, but was himself very badly burned. Some neighbors came in and stiffed the fir with wet blankets, but the poor woman was so badly burned that she died on Friday night.

THE EXPLOITS OF TWO THIEVES .- Louis Estalist and Marteno Secanoti, two Italian thieves, recently from the State Prison, went into the jewelry store of Mr. John K. Davis, at No. 33 Catherine-street, on Saturday, and asked for some rings. The boy who was waiting in the store, showed them a case containing forty-one rings, worth between $50 and $60. While he was attending to another customer, the light-fingered fellows grabbed the rings and darted out of the store. A policeman, happening to be han-

> FELONIOUS ASSAULT UPON HIS WIFE .- John Boyle, the ruffian who assaulted his wife so savagely at No. 140 Worth street, as reported in THE TRIBUNE on Saturday, has been arrested and committed. He knocked his wife's teeth out, wounding the corollary artery, so that she nearly bled to death. As she was a very intemperate woman, it is feared that delirium tremens may set in, in which event it is not probable that she will recover.

ROBBED BY A CYPRIAN.-Thomas Elkairn, recently from Newark, N. J., but now of No. 422 Greenwich street, New-York, fell in with one Mary Campbell on Saturday night, and went with her to a disreputable house in Reade street. He soon after rushed out with a roll of bills in his hand, and meeting an officer, requested him to count them. The latter did so, when Elkairn declared that he had been robbed of $130 by the girl. She was subsequently arrested, when his pecket-book, containing $70, was found upon her person. Justice Osborne committed her for trial. When the complainant entered the house, he had about $600 in his pocket.

BOLD ROBBERY-A NEW DODGE,-Messts. De Markas Brothers, commission merchants, at No. 61 Stone street, sent their office boy to the Market Bank on Saturday, with check No. 3,529, of the date of May 14, for $27 02, drawn by Sheffield, Miner & Baily to he was accosted by a strange, well-dressed man, whom he had seen in the bank, who demanded the check of him, saying that it was forged, and if he did not give it up at once he would have him sent to the state prison. As the stranger manifested a good deal of assurance, and glibly repeated the face of the check, he succeeded in frightening the youngster into giving it to him, when he hastened away, no doubt with the intention of disposing of it before his knavery became known. The check was not in-

DEFADEUL AND FATAL FALL .- Catharine McGiniass, a married woman 38 years of age, while endeav- | daily. oring, on Saturday, to hang some clothes upon a line which extended from the fifth story of the tenement No. 315 Water street, where she resided, lost her balance and fell to the pavement, a distance of 70 feet. She was taken up dead, her body being terribly mangled. Coroner Jackman held an inquest, and a verdict of "accidental death" was rendered. Deceased was a widow, and leaves several orphan children to

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT TO A CHILD .- Coroner Jackman held an inquest at No. 343 Ninth street on the body of William J. Riley, a child only sixteen months old, who died on Saturday evening. Deceased was reaching out of a window in the fourth story of the premises, when he lost his balance and fell upon the iron fence, one of the pickets of which pierced his back to a fearful depth. The child was instantly removed, and expired in a few minutes afterward. The testimony did not attach blame to any one, and a verdiet of accidental death was rendered by the Jury.

MUTINY AT QUARANTINE. -On Friday evening, five sailors belonging to the ship Constellation, now lying at Quarantine, broke out into mutiny, and before they could be secured wounded several of the officers and crew. The surgeon was dangerously stabled. Capt. Gibson of the Harbor Police, with a boat's crew, boarded the vessel and brought the mutineers to the city. They gave their names as Pstrick McCaffrey, James Trainer, John Cosgrove, Cornelius Doughty and Charles Burns. The prisoners were handed over to the U. S. Marshal on Saturday morning. The Constellation recently arrived from Liverpool, having tion of the brain, 5 of congestion of the lungs, 6 of small-pox on board, and was quarantined for five days. croup, 5 of diarrhea, 5 of dysentery, 7 of puerperal | It is supposed that the mutiny occurred through the

THE BROADWAY RAILROAD .- Within a few days past Messrs. James M. Waterbury, John A. Cross, Seymour L. Husted and John M. Furman have become largely interested with the original stockholders in the Broadway E. D. Railroad. It is now in a very flourishing condition, running twelve cars, with accommodation for four thousand passengers, daily. Two cars, capable of carrying one hundred passengers each, will be ready by the 1st of July. These are intended for excursion cars. With four more cars that are expected to be ready by the 1st of July, the road will accommodate five thousand passengers

THE FIRST REFORMED PRESERVERIAN CHURCH .-A new edifice for the First Presbyterian Church, situated in Duffield street, near Myrtle avenue, was opened yesterday for Divine service. The building is of brick, 51 feet front by 78 feet deep, and occupies three lots of ground. An addition in the rear, occu-pied as a lecture-room on the first floor, and by the Sunday-School on the second floor, is 21 feet by 65 feet in extent. The body of the church is capable of accommodating 700 persons. The pulpit is plainly and neatly furnished, and the rear wall is finely frescoed. The seats are of black walnut, and the ai-les are carpeted. A gallery, intended eventually for the choir, is erected over the front entrance, immediately opposite the pulpit. A ventilator in the celling equalizes the atmosphere, and even in hot weather will have a tendency to make it agreeable in the church. The cost of the structure is $20,000, of which sum a large proportion has already been paid. The mason work of the building was done by Mr. Wm. McElroy, the carpenter work by Messrs. Horton & Wilson, and the pews were constructed by Mr. Taos. McKetchie. The building is in the ordinary style of architecture, and is located in a fine neighborhood. There were three services yesterday. The Rev. G. R. McMillan, pastor elect, preached an eloquent and appropriate discourse in the morning, from the latter clause of the 7th verse of the 87th Psalm, "All my springs are in me." A sermon was preached in the afternoon by the Rev. John N. McLeod, D. D., cf New-York, and in the evening by Prof. T. W. J. Wylie of Philadelphia; after which the paster elect was installed rector of the congregation.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENT .- The Seventh Regiment Greeppoint Ferry Company to take them from the foot of Tenth street this morning and land them at Hunter's Point, whence they will proceed to Fashion Race Course, where they will encamp for the day, returning in the evening.

CITY MORTALITY .- The number of deaths in this city was unusually small last week. The Health Officer gives a total of 77, of which 12 were men, 17 women, 29 boys and 19 girls. Of that, 10 died of convulsions (infantile), 9 of consumption, 5 of croup, 4 of dropsy in the head, I of small-pox &c. Under I year of age 22. Natives of the United States, 55; Ireland, 18; England, 51; Germany, 2; unknown, 1.

ATTEMPT TO THEOW A WOMAN OVERBOARD .- A seafaring man named James Hunter, took a loose weman named Betsy Gill, on board of a vessel lying near the foot of Montague street, on Friday night, and getting into a dispute with her, threatened to cut her throat with a knife, and then attempted to throw her everboard. Officer Munson was attracted to the spot, and arrested Hunter. The woman refused to prefer a complaint against him, when he was committed for examination on the complaint of the officer, and the woman was retained as a witness.

Rownyish .- A youth named William McGowan, yesterday afternoon, tried to raise a fight in South Sixth street, near Fifth. Upon Sergeant Jacobs attempting to arrest him, he refused to submit, and, with the assistance of Officer Wintringham, had to be dragged to the Station-House. The occurrence attracted quite a crowd, and disturbed the neighborhood.

FIRE AND NARROW ESCAPE FROM SUFFOCATION .-About 54 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the house of George Olney, No. 12 Lafayette avenue, and the rooms of the upper stories were filled with smoke before the family became apprised of their danger. When they discovered their situation they groped their way down stairs with great diffithey groped their way down stars with great dim-culty, and finally got into the open air without sustain-ing any personal injury. The servant girl, however, laboring under the impression that the usual mode of egress was cut off, threw herself out of the third-story window, and was, it is feared, fatally injured. The fire originated in the basement, from accident, and had evidently been burning for a long time before it was discovered. The flames were, however, speedily supliscovered. The flames were, however, speedily sup-pressed. Damage about $1,000; insured in the Nassau Company.

About 8 o'clock the evening previous the goods in the show window of John Kenny's store, No. 36 Atlantic street, caught fire from the gas burner. The flames were extinguished by officer Ryder of the Third Precinct police before any serious damage had resolved.

SUPERIOR COURT-SPECIAL TERM-May 14. Joseph Burnett et al. sgt. Edward Phalon et al.
PIERREYOST J.- It appeared before one upon the rial of this cause, that the plaintiff, in November, 1954, comtrial of this cause, that the pisintiff in November, 1954, camposinded from excount oil and other regredients, a univare to be used upon the human hair; that he deviced a ration never before used by which to mark his said compound, to wit, the name or word "Coconier," that he forthwith poblished in all his circulars and in all the principal newspapers in the country, and especially in the circy of Nov-York, where the defendants reside; that he had adopted the above mentioned mine or title as a "trade mark," to secure the public and the proprietors against imposition, and that all manthemate use or this trade mark would be promptly prosecuted.

The plaintiff introduced this article upon the market, and spent between November, 1946 and November, 1953, some $\psi_1$ (so in advertising the same. The demand for the article apply) increased. The sale become large, and the profits were by The philitist introduced this article upon the market, and spent between Nevember, 18-58 and Nevember, 18-58, some $10,000 in advertising the same. The demand for the article upon the market and the perfect where he had been large, and the profits were by no means meanaged by the Bash become large, and the profits were by no means meanaged by the Bash become large, and the profits were by no means meanaged by the large that the following label. (Here follows a description of plaintist, Phalom & Son, the defendants, residents of this city, common near the sale of a somewhat similar programme may be also followed. (Here follows a description of defendants label for "Cocoine.")

This mixture has also had sever large sale, with much profit to the defendants. The plaintist claims that the defendants have pirated his trade mark, and was that damages may be awarded, and that an diporation may issue against them. The defendants contrad that the plaintists compound as non-mark my property in he name. Cocoante, and that a superior, and that compound the mark and plaint a compare in property in he name. Cocoante, and that the plaintists compound from the Fernach, but a different name, and not constructed from the Fernach. There is no evidence that the plaintists have committed any fraud upon the public, and which is the superior of the two mixtures the Court will not consider. If the plaintist cannot acquire any property or excinaive right in the name, word or device this contributed, and adopted as sin trade mark, and read the public, and contributed and adopted as sin trade mark they plaintist cannot acquire any property or excinaive right in the name, word or device this contributed, and adopted as sin trade mark they there is a ground for this action. And, if the defendants have adopted a device or name so different from that adopted by the plaintist, then the defendants are not lable in this sunt. By the stantes of this State, it is a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment, "To forge o

of the plaintiffs, the defendance in Phalon & Son's "Cocolne."

Was "this contrivative calculated to mysiciad the bulk of unwary purchasers, and thus to be not the defendants, to injure the plaintiffs, and to deceive the public."

I have no doubt that an housest answer from the defendants would be affirmative. If Burnet's "Cocoolne" would not have been destructive to the human hair, Phalou's "Cocoolne" would not have been furnished middle that designation. It was the success of the furnished human hair, Phalou's "Cocoolne" would not have been introduced under that designation. It was the success of the furnished human hair, Phalou's "Cocoolne" would not have been introduced the latter, and when one intentionally (as in this case,) so closely inclines the trade mark of another, the law presumes it to have been done for the purpose of inducting the public to believe that the article is that of aim whose rade mark is initiated, and for the purpose of supplicating him in the good will of his trade or business (Taylor ar. Carpenter, 2 Sand. Ch. R. 603. Affirmed in the Court of Errors). Every man has a tight to the reward of his skill, his energy and his heart enterprise, and when he has apprepriated as his trade mark letters countined into a word before makeway, and his need that word and hang published it to the world as his adopted. "trade mark," he has required rights in it whigh the courts will protect.

The proof is clear that the plaintiff had for mearly two years advertised his misture in nearly every newspaper in this city, and had published in the same papers that he had adopted the word. "Cocoolne" as his trade mark.

The defendant was himself a witness, and he did not suggest that these notices had not been brought home to his knowledge, the condition is irrestrible that he was aware of their publication, and then he intentionally adopted. "Cacoolne" as a close initiation of Cocoolne," and for the purpose of deriving profit from the simulated trade mark.

FROM JAFAN.—A correspondent of The New-Bed-ford Mercury writing from Hakodadi, Japan, says it is believed the Japanese know of many bays where the whales calve, but they would answer no questions upon the subject. They bought a whale-gun of the Adeline, and took instructions of the venerable cap-tain of the Rapid, in both whaling and navigation, and Adeline, and took instructions of the venerable captain of the Rapid, in both whaling and navigation, and seem to manifest a determination to do something in the whaling line for themselves. At present they burn vegetable tailow and oil extracted from various seeds; yet they have whale blubber for sale at the groceries, though only as a luxury of food. The ships wintering here reported the weather to have been remarkably good; but few heavy gales, no great amount of snow, and no ice, except in secluded places. There has been a fine schoomer built and launched here after an American model; she is new on a trip to Yeddo, and has proved to be a safe sea-boar, and fast sailer.

Riot at Ontonaous.—On Sunday, the 24th of April, a desperate light occurred at Ontonagon between the Cornishmen and Irishmen of that place, arising from the killing of one of the former by one of the latter with an ax. The Cornishmen rallied and drove the Irishmen into a tavern, to which they set fire, shooting them as they were obliged to leap from the building by the progress of the flames. One Irishman was consumed, and it is thought that eight or ten others are mortally wounded. The Irish left for Portage Lake, pursued by several hundred Cornishmen. At the latest dates, the outbreak bad been quelled by the county authorities, but more trouble is yet expected. A reward of $200 had been offered by Mr. Townsond, agent of the Minnesota mine, for the arrest of Daniel Ryan, the nurrierer of the Cornishman.
